

Rathbone Income Fund Value assessment

Accounting year end at 30 September 2022

Dear Investor,

Just like that, we are in 2023. Time truly waits for no one. I hope you were able to spend some time recharging with your family and friends over the Christmas period.

Humans have the tendency to timebox periods of uncertainty, and with a new year brings the hope of something better, especially when 2022 has been difficult for so many of us. Sadly, the intrinsic problems we see in our economy persist and will inevitably take time to resolve. We continue to see the effects of this volatility within our funds, and you will continue to feel the effects of this volatility on your investments. What we are experiencing now is in many ways worse than the financial crisis in 2008, the closest point of comparison in recent memory.

At times like this it's worth reminding ourselves that markets seldom stay static and that looking (and learning) from history can make us feel slightly more confident about the future. Given the falls in markets, valuations look more attractive and opportunities exist for patient long term investors.

We are long term investors; this means we do not chop and change the investments in our funds to try and capture gains from violent moves in a volatile market. This takes investment discipline in treacherous times, but history tells us sticking by our principles provides good outcomes over the long run. This does also mean, in times of market stress, our funds may underperform their benchmarks in the short term. This is why we have a recommended holding period (the absolute minimum term you should consider investing in our funds) of five years for the majority of our fund range.

This does not make it any more comfortable if you have experienced short-term losses on your investments. If you are unsure or feeling anxious about your current investments, we would recommend you contact a financial adviser to help you understand your investment position. If you are not able to do this, the UK government (www.moneyhelper.org.uk) have also published some very useful help sheets.

Despite the difficult period we have been experiencing, we have continued to invest in our business to ensure that we can continue to deliver good outcomes for our investors. At the end of last year, we completed the first phase of our three-year investment into further digitalising our capabilities. We implemented a new portfolio management system, the Charles Rivers Investment Management Solution (we call it CRIMS!), which has strengthened our controls and risk management abilities whilst also giving our fund managers a more efficient and user-friendly platform for which to manage their funds. We have also outsourced our dealing functionality, meaning our fund managers now have access to a global trading function, with trading desks over all time zones in the UK, US and Asia.

Thank you for your continued support. If you have any questions about our value assessment or any suggestions on how we can improve, please get in touch.

Best wishes,

Mike Webb
CEO, Rathbone Unit Trust Management

Who are Rathbones?

We have been in business since 1742 and are listed on the FTSE 250 Index. We provide individual investment and wealth management services for private clients, charities, trustees and professional partners. We see it as our responsibility to invest for everyone's tomorrow.

Rathbone Unit Trust Management Limited is the asset management arm of Rathbones Group Plc. and a leading UK fund manager. Through its subsidiaries, Rathbones Group Plc. manages £57.9 billion of clients' funds, of which £10.6 billion is managed by Rathbone Unit Trust Management (as at 30 September 2022).

What is a value assessment?

Our regulator, the Financial Conduct Authority (FCA), has asked us to assess the value of our funds.

Assessing value is much more than just looking at the fees which you, our investors, pay or the performance of the fund in isolation. Considering this, we have designed an assessment which looks at nine criteria. We have also appointed an independent research firm, Square Mile Investment Consulting & Research, to provide an impartial report on the value our funds offer compared with the market.

It is the responsibility of our board of directors to consider the outcomes of these assessments, ensure they are clear and fair, and then communicate to you, our investors, if we have delivered value. Or, if not, where we need to improve.

How are we doing?

It is important to us that our value assessments are informative, useful and easy to understand. There is little value in us bombarding you with technical jargon and analysis, so we have tried to explain things simply, in plain English.

We are always looking for ways to improve, so if you have any suggestions on how we can do better, please let us know by emailing rutm@rathbones.com.

2. Corporate culture

What does this section cover?

We believe the right corporate culture encourages positive behaviour which ultimately benefits you, our investors. In this section, our board of directors reviewed several metrics to allow them to determine if our business has a positive corporate culture.

Assessment summary

Our board assessed metrics specific to Rathbone Unit Trust Management. The assessment of our corporate culture considers different aspects of our business. This includes how we demonstrate our values: to be responsible, to show courage, to work together and always be professional, the results of our employee engagement survey, our employee retention rate and how we invest into our business and people to attract and retain talent.

In a survey that was completed in Summer 2022, Rathbone Unit Trust Management received excellent ratings from our employees for challenging work, alignment and management support that we offer them. It was noted that we provide them with the support they need to complete their work, that are cared for as people, and we communicate with them openly and honestly.

Our Diversity and Inclusion Committee continue to meet monthly to drive progress and positive change across various threads of diversity e.g., neurodiversity, socio-economic background, sexual orientation, and disability. In 2022, we ran a wide range of different communications, events and webinars to help create a sense of belonging for everyone. These have covered Pride, Social Mobility, World Sight Day, National Inclusion Week, Parenting Perspectives, Diwali and Eid, amongst others. Four of our colleagues were shortlisted for a PIMFA Diversity & Inclusion Award 2022.

We are developing a suite of Inclusion Networks which will provide our colleagues with shared characteristics (such as gender, race, ethnicity, sexual orientation, socio-economic background and disability) and their allies, a safe space to come together across the organisation. Our Inclusion Networks will provide support, build empathy and create networking opportunities for under-represented groups, based on our diversity data to date we are starting with a focus on Gender Balance, Race & Ethnicity and Ability Matters.

We are working hard to attract more diversity into our teams. Rathbones' Board has three female directors out of nine, which means we meet our commitment of 33% of female board representation for FTSE 350 companies. We also have three females on our group executive committee (GEC). From 2021, we also meet the requirements of the Parker Review, which encourages the improvement of ethnic and cultural diversity on boards.

Rathbones are signed up to the 10,000 Black Interns initiative. This programme provides six-week internships to Black students, to help kick start their career in the asset management industry. In 2021 the interns at Rathbones were particularly interested in gaining experience within asset management, the interns spent four days with us so they could gain exposure to every part of the product lifecycle. As a follow-on, one of the 2021 interns was offered a full-year placement within Rathbones Group. In June 2022, Rathbones Group doubled the intake hosting four interns with a view to growing our pipeline of diverse talent.

Rathbones Group also have an internal mentoring programme, to enable employees from across the organisation to access support, guidance, and opportunities.

We report annually on our gender pay gap and the action we are taking to address it. To view the latest version, released March 2022, click here.

We have developed our work with specialist providers to ensure we have in depth knowledge of ESG issues which we take into account when we are making investment decisions.

Assessment outcome ■

Our board of directors concluded, based on the available metrics, that Rathbone Unit Trust Management has a positive corporate culture.

3. Quality of service you receive

What does this section cover?

Service is more than just how fast we reply to an enquiry. When we consider the services we provide, we look at the breadth of knowledge and expertise of our fund managers and the analysts that support them, the qualifications we offer our employees to ensure they continually grow, and how efficient we are when trading on your behalf. This section assesses the range and quality of services we provide you. We have considered both the quality of service that we provide you directly, as well as the quality of services that we procure on your behalf.

Assessment summary

In our assessment of quality of service, we considered a range of different areas. The most notable were:

- Planning for the future. Our people are the heart and soul of what we do, with our culture as the driving force behind the success of our business. Although our staff retention rate is high, we believe it is prudent to have a robust succession plan to enable us to continue to deliver a quality service to you in the period covered in this report, we have overseen the smooth transition of a new chief investment officer, Tom Carroll, following the well-earned retirement of Julian Chillingworth after serving 21 years at Rathbones.
- Hybrid working. We, alongside our third parties, have successfully adapted to hybrid working, enabling us to continue to deliver the service you expect.
- Open communication. We have continued to maintain our high levels of communication and advisers support, post pandemic restriction easing. Over the last nine months, we have also added back in face-to-face events as well, giving them a choice of medium to interact with us, which best suits them and their business. We continue to receive positive feedback on our accessibility, our open and honest flow of information and our support for our investors.
- Professional development. The average number of hours our staff undertake continuous professional development (CPD) greatly exceeds the regulatory requirement. Over the last year, 32 Rathbone Unit Trust Management certified individuals have completed over 1,536 hours of training and development. Rathbones also actively supports employees in undertaking additional professional qualifications, such as the Chartered Financial Analyst qualification.
- How we vote on your behalf. Where voting rights allow, we actively engage with companies we invest in on environmental, social and governance issues and publish a report annually about how we have voted. This is available on our website – click here to review it.
- The services we receive on your behalf. These are managed by our operational oversight team and governed by our outsourcing governance committee.
- How we handled complaints. We reviewed how many complaints we received and how quickly we resolved them. We also conduct trend analysis on complaints as an early warning indicator within our product governance process.
- How well we traded. We reviewed the transaction costs associated with our funds, which is an indicator of how efficiently we trade on your behalf.

Assessment outcome ■

Our board of directors concluded that, based on the areas assessed, Rathbone Unit Trust Management offers a good quality of service.

4. Performance of the fund

What does this section cover?

We check how our funds have performed against their objectives, after all fees have been paid, to see if we have delivered what we aimed to achieve.

If a fund has underperformed its benchmark, we explain why and assess whether the fund has invested in line with its 'mandate'. A fund's mandate is the investment strategy which was designed by the fund manager and agreed by our chief investment officer; it dictates how a fund manager can invest.

For illustrative purposes we also measure our fund's performance against a 'cash' return to give you an idea of how your money would have grown in a UK bank account versus investing in our fund. We use the Bank of England base rate to approximate the interest you may have received in a bank account. Cash in a bank account does of course have a very different risk profile to equity or bond investments and so is not directly comparable.

Why is the investment objective of a fund important?

The objective of a fund is important because it shows how a fund aims to perform. When we assess a fund's performance, we do so relative to its objective.

You'll notice that our funds' objectives are measured over three, five or 10 years. This is the time period you should plan to invest for – a 'recommended holding period'. Each fund's recommended holding period was chosen based on the historic performance of the fund and how we expect the fund to perform in the future. This doesn't mean the objective of the fund is guaranteed and there is always a chance you will get back less than you had invested.

This also means that the fund may perform very differently to the objective in the short-term. For example, returns or volatility could be much less, or much more, than the stated objective if measured over, for example, a six-month period.

Our assessment is based on several factors. We assess the fund against its objective while considering the prevailing economic and market backdrop, how the fund manager's investment philosophy and process should have performed, and how we believe the fund may perform in the future.

It's important to understand that sometimes a fund could underperform its objective, even though the fund manager is investing in line with their investment policy (which financial instruments they are allowed to invest in) and their investment process (how they pick their investments). This can be because of a general market downturn that affects all the assets a fund manager might invest in. Underperformance could also happen because the type of assets a fund invests in, or its 'style' of investment, is 'out of favour'.

What is the objective of the Rathbone Income Fund?

We aim to deliver an annual income that is in line with or better than that of the FTSE All-Share Index over any rolling three-year period. We also aim to increase the income we pay you in line with the CPI measure of inflation over any rolling five-year period.

We aim to generate a greater total return than the FTSE All-Share Index, after fees, over any five-year period. Total return means the return we receive from the value of our investments increasing (capital growth) plus the income we receive from our investments (dividend payments). We use the FTSE All-Share Index as a target for our fund's return and the income we pay because we want to offer you a better income and higher returns than the UK stock market. Increasing your income payments at least in line with the CPI measure of inflation protects your future spending power.

We also compare our fund against the Investment Association UK Equity Income sector because the funds in it are similar to ours.

Who looks after the Rathbone Income Fund?

Carl Stick
Executive Director

Carl Stick is an Executive Director of Rathbone Unit Trust Management and plays a key role in the development of Rathbones' investment process and business strategy. He is also the manager of the Rathbone Income Fund, which he has been managing since January 2000. Carl is also Institute for Investment Management and Research qualified and a Fellow of the Securities Institute.

Alan Dobbie
Fund Manager

Alan Dobbie joined Rathbones in October 2005 and became co-manager of the Rathbone Income Fund in October 2018. He has previously managed and co-managed a number of UK European and global equity funds for Rathbones. Alan holds the Investment Management Certificate (IMC) and is a Chartered Financial Analyst (CFA) charter-holder.

Assessment summary

We assess the fund's performance against its objective to see if it has done what it says on the tin.

For illustrative purposes we also measure our fund's performance against a 'cash' return to give you an idea of how your money would have grown in a UK bank account versus investing in our fund. We use the Bank of England base rate to approximate the interest you may have received in a bank account. Cash in a bank account does of course have a very different risk profile to equity or bond investments and so is not directly comparable. In the five years ending 30 September 2022, if you had invested £1,000 in a UK bank account, you would have received approximately 2.56% or £25.62. If you had invested £1,000 in our fund, you would have received approximately 6.36% or £63.61 (based on the return of the accumulation of the I-class, as this is the largest class in this fund).

Assessment outcome ■

Following a period of underperformance in 2021, the funds' performance was monitored throughout 2022 by our chief investment officer. Over the period analysed, the fund has continued to meet its income paying benchmarks but marginally underperformed its FTSE All Share benchmark (five year performance to September 2022) in what was a very challenging period for income style of investing. The focus on delivering a yield for investors means this fund can't invest in many of the more growth orientated companies which have led the performance tables over the past few years.

As this fund continues to meet its income objective the board of directors concluded that the Rathbone Income Fund provide value for money. 2022 saw the income style of investing regain favour and so as at the end of that year, the Fund was in line with its objective when compared to the IA.

5. Costs charged to the fund

What does this section cover?

In this section we assess the costs charged to the fund, which are paid by you, our investors, to invest in our fund. We assess whether these costs are reasonable for the level of service we provide you (or the level of service we receive from third parties on your behalf).

Understanding fund costs

Fund costs are complicated. The most important cost for you to understand is the total cost of your investment, as this is how much you pay every year to invest your money into our fund.

The ongoing charges fee (OCF) is the easiest cost to compare between funds, which we also refer to as the UCITS total cost of investment. You can find this cost on all funds' Key Investor Information Documents (KIIDs).

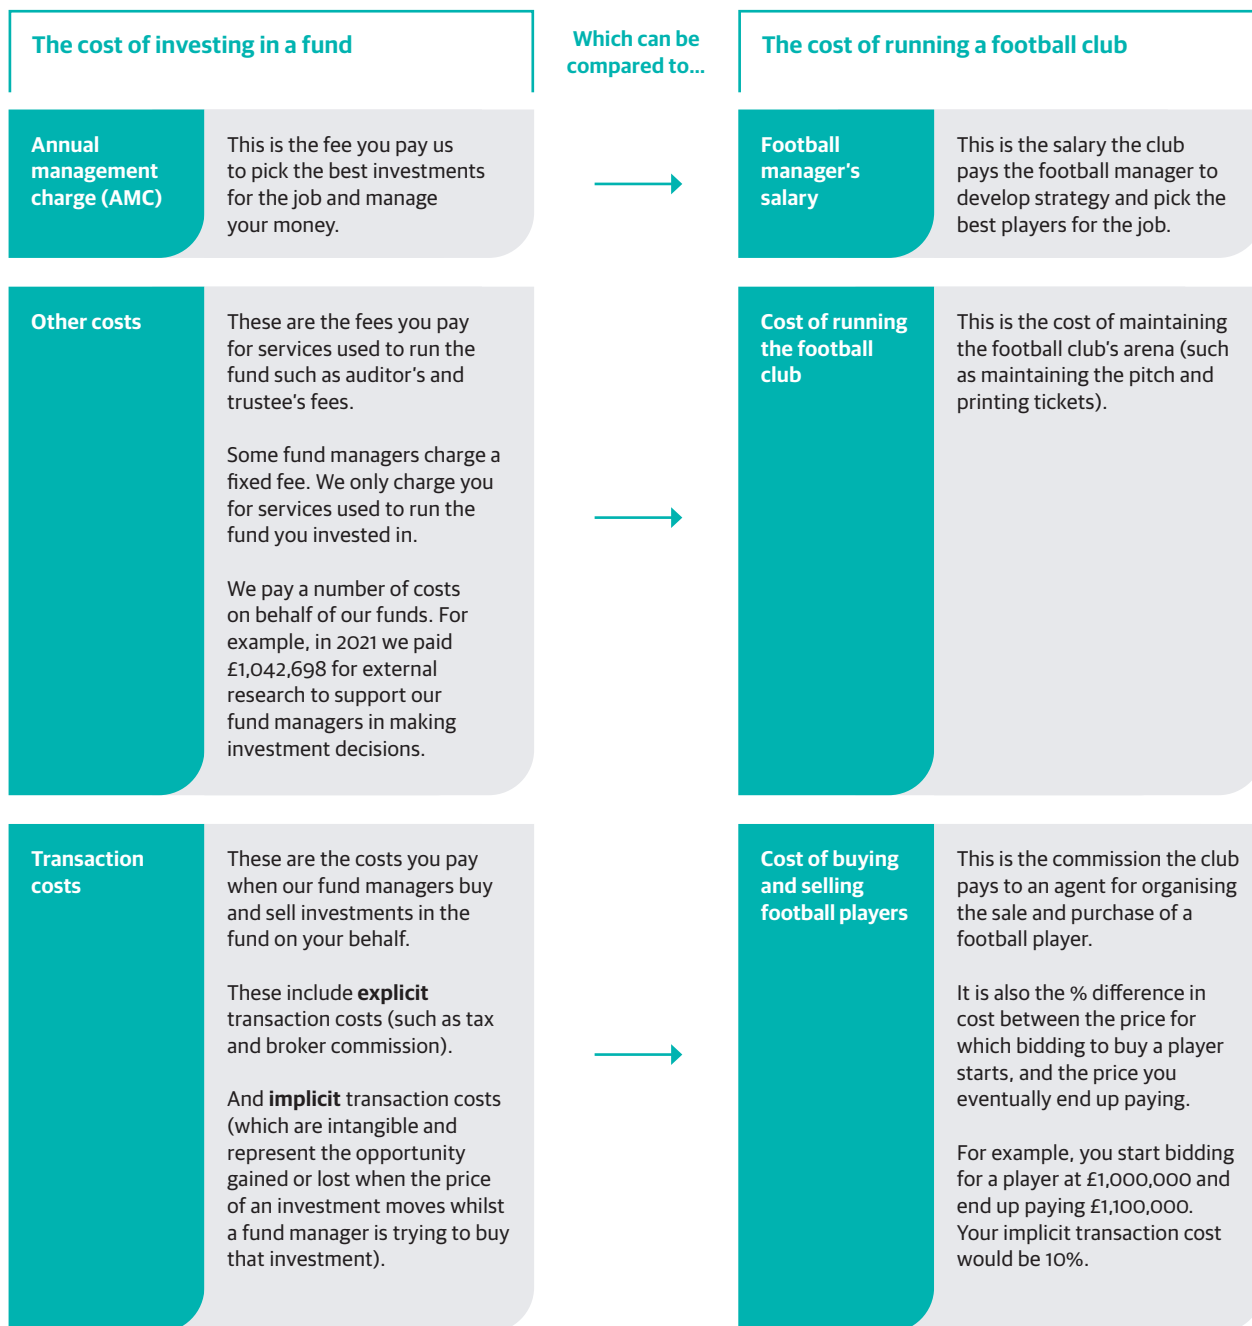

The total cost of your investment is expressed as a percentage. You can work out roughly how much you pay per year by multiplying the value of your investment by the percentage cost. An example of this is £1,000 x a cost of 0.50% per annum = £5 per annum.

If you invest in funds using the services of a financial adviser or through an investment platform, they will also charge you additional costs on top of the fees you pay for investing in our funds. You can request a breakdown detailing the full fees you pay, including the fees you pay for our funds, from your financial adviser or investment platform.

Explaining the different parts of fund costs

It's not essential that you understand the underlying cost components when investing in our funds, but as we know it can be useful, we've broken it down below.

Explaining the different ways to calculate costs

As we are bound by two different regulations, which are dictated by the Financial Conduct Authority, we have to publish costs based on two different calculations. These regulations are called UCITS and MiFID II. You will see these terms throughout this report.

Very simply, MiFID II costs include transaction costs, or in our example, the cost of buying and selling football players. UCITS costs do not include transaction costs unless they are “material”, which ours are not. In practice, the way these costs are calculated are much more complicated than how we’ve explained here. If you would like more information on the technicalities of fund cost calculation, please get in touch.

Assessment summary

The charges of the Rathbone Income Fund are as follows (basing our analysis on the cost of the I-class, as this is the largest share class).

Cost	UCITS costs	MiFID II costs
AMC	0.75%	0.75%
Other costs	0.03%	0.03%
Transaction costs	—	0.07%
Total cost of investment	0.78%	0.85%

This means if you invested £1,000 for one year, you would be charged £7.80 (calculated using the UCITS total cost of investment).

Assessment outcome

Our board of directors concluded that, the Rathbone Income Fund charges represents good value for money.

6. Economies of scale

What does this section cover?

When funds get bigger, you pay proportionally less for the fixed costs of running the fund. For example, when a fund grows considerably, the management company should be able to negotiate lower costs on your behalf. This is called economies of scale – a proportionate saving in cost gained by an increase in scale or size. In this section, we assess if all economies of scale have been passed onto you, the investor.

Some asset managers charge a fixed percentage admin fee, so it doesn't matter how large the fund grows, investors don't benefit from the saving in cost gained by an increase in fund size. We only charge for services used to run the fund and never charge a fixed percentage admin fee, so as our funds grow, you benefit from lower fixed costs. If a fund is small, we may choose to pay some of these charges on behalf of our investors. We do this to make the funds' annual management charge more affordable and to attract more investment into the fund. As the fund grows, all investors benefit from paying proportionally less fees.

Some asset managers tier their annual management charges based on the size of their funds. We think this is an unsustainable method to pass on economies of scale. In the event of a market correction where a fund is significantly reduced in size, we wouldn't want to ask you to pay more for the management of your investment. For this reason, we have chosen not to tier the annual management charges of our funds.

We will continue to monitor the annual management charges of our funds to ensure they are appropriate.

Assessment summary

All costs charged to the Rathbone Income Fund have been assessed to determine if all available benefits from economies of scale were passed on to you, our investors.

Assessment outcome ■

The costs charged to run our funds are periodically benchmarked against the industry and renegotiated on your behalf. The last renegotiation, conducted in 2022, reduced costs across our fund range by almost £1 million per annum. Our board of directors concluded that these economies of scale have been passed on to you, Rathbone Income Fund's investors.

7. Costs compared to the fund's peers and sector

What does this section cover?

It's important that the costs of our funds reflect the service you receive. We believe that cost cannot be assessed in isolation alone and must be considered alongside a fund's performance, the type of assets in a portfolio and the quality of services that we offer. We do not believe that value means selling our services at the cheapest price.

We assess our funds based on their performance, taking into account the cost you paid to invest, against an independently selected peer group and the wider market sector. In other words, how much you got for the fees you paid us, against what you would've got if you'd invested with any of our peers. We consider the results of this analysis keeping in mind the service Rathbones provides and the prevailing economic and market backdrop.

Assessment summary

Share class	Total UCITS costs	Total MiFID II costs
R-class	1.53%	1.60%
I-class	0.78%	0.85%
S-class	0.52%	0.59%

Our board of directors concluded that the costs for the Rathbone Income Fund S-class and I-class are below the median for its peer group and sector. The cost for the R-class is above the median for its peer group and sector.

Assessment outcome

Our board of directors concluded that the costs for the Rathbone Income Fund are below its peer group and sector. When reviewed against its performance, the Rathbone Income Fund's costs offer good value for money.

Our R-class is a legacy share class in which we no longer accept new business. In theory, if you are a shareholder of our R-class you pay c.0.8- 1.0%, or £8-10 for every £1,000 invested, more in fees every year. In practice, a portion of this fee is given back – or “rebated” – to your financial advisor. The agreement you have with your financial advisor will dictate what proportion of this fee gets paid back to you. These types of agreements were phased out at the end of 2012 following a change in regulation.

In 2020, the FCA introduced powers to allow us to switch which share class you invest in if it led to a better outcome. We reviewed the circumstances of our R-class shareholders and moved the majority from the R-class to the lower cost I-class, where we could definitively prove our investors would receive a better outcome. A small proportion of investors were not moved as we could not determine if they would be better or worse off.

Over the past three years, the number of investors in our R-class has fallen substantially. The board have asked us to review whether we can move all remaining investors and close our R-class across our fund range. We will carry out this review in the first half of 2023.

8. The difference between share classes

What does this section cover?

Investment funds can offer different share classes. Share classes usually have different investment minimums (the minimum amount you need to invest) and different costs (how much you pay annually for your investment). Although share classes have different investment terms, they all invest in the same fund.

The larger the investment minimum, the lower the charge for managing your investment. This is like getting a cheaper price for buying product in bulk rather than buying one at a time. For this reason, when you invest through a third-party like an investment platform or a financial adviser, your money is pooled with other people's money and you may have access to a cheaper share class than if you were to invest directly with us. In this section of the assessment, we have determined if unitholders are invested in appropriate share classes.

Assessment summary

The Rathbone Income Fund has three share classes:

Share class	Minimum investment	Annual management charge
R-class	£100,000,000	1.50%
I-class	£1,000	0.75%
S-class	£100,000,000	0.49%

Assessment outcome

Our board of directors concluded that all investors are in the appropriate share class.

🔍 9. The fund compared to similar investment services we offer

What does this section cover?

It's important to us that all our investors receive fair investment terms when they choose to invest their money in Rathbone funds. In this section, the board considers the investment terms that we offer you compared with those we offer our institutional and international investors. Comparable services include the international range of Rathbone funds which are registered in Luxembourg and regulated by the Commission de Surveillance du Secteur Financier, and 'segregated mandates', which are pots of money managed by our fund managers separately from our UK fund range for large institutional investors.

Assessment summary

The Rathbone Income Fund has no comparable services.

Assessment outcome ■

Our board of directors recognised that the Rathbone Income Fund has no comparable services.
